The Islander

DAILY COLONIST MAGAZINE

VICTORIA, B.C., SUNDAY, MARCH 8, 1959

This is a time when wild weather is to be expected, but for the most part Cadboro Bay is sheltered against storm. Cameraman Bill Boucher caught this photograph as the sun broke through the cloud-rack, while small boats dipped at their moorings in the chop.